Crime Hook-Ups In U. S. Played In Probers' Report

Report Given To Nation By Crime Probers

Results Of Long Probe Of Crime Are Announced

By FRANK B. ALLEN

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The Senate crime committee charged today that organized crime, headed by two major syndicates and bound together by the dread Mafia, has firmly entrenched itself in our major cities by violence, intimidation and murder.

Two Major Syndicates

The group headed by Sen. Kefauver (D. Tenn.) declared in its long-awaited report that the two major crime syndicates are the Accardo-Guzik-Fischetti syndicate with headquarters in Chicago, and the Costello-Adonis-Lansky syndicate based in New York.

The committee's findings on New York also blasted former Mayor William O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico, for "impeding" racket investigations and blaming others for corruption. It added that O'Dwyer and racket boss Frank Costello had many "intimate" mutual friends.

The committee found after a year of intensive probing that the crime "syndicates, as well as other criminal gangs throughout the country, enter profitable relationships with each other."

There is also a close personal, financial, and social relationship between top-level mobsters in different areas of the country.

At the same time the committee insisted, throughout the report, that crime is a local problem and can best be met at the local level, and "the time for action has arrived."

The committee asserted that the two top syndicates and numerous

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Former New York Mayor William O'Dwyer was charged today by the Kefauver committee with impeding racket investigations and failing to follow up evidence against such organizations as "Murder, Inc."

The Senate Crime Committee blamed laxity of local officials in a dozen other cities, but it devoted 35 of its 195 pages to New York City, largely to O'Dwyer, now Ambassador to Mexico, and the king-pin racketeer, Frank Costello.

Moscow Has Big May Day Parade

By CHARLES A. SMITH

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, May 1.—(INS)—Soviet War Minister Marshal Alexander Vasilyevsky declared today in the presence of Premier Stalin and thousands massed for Moscow's May Day celebration that "capitalist countries are making preparations for a new war."

Ear-splitting cheers arose from the throngs assembled in historic Red Square as Stalin led Soviet government officials to the parade reviewing stand at the base of Lenin's tomb.

The cheering spectators heard Vasilyevsky declare:

"For American monopolists war is necessary for the enslavement of other countries. Precisely for this reason they rejected Soviet proposals for a reduction in armaments."

He warned "American monopolists that what he called an expansionist and unjust war in Korea 'will bring the American people nothing good'."

Vasilyevsky then declared that the Soviet government "will continue to pursue a policy of preventing war and safeguarding peace."

He added that "our people can rely on their army and navy always to fulfill their duty to the people honorably."

Korea Warning Was Given U.S. By Wedemeyer

Report Of 1947 Now Made Public Shows Accurate Forecast

By WILLIAM THEIS

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Senate investigators today made public the 1947 report in which Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer warned that the Soviet-backed North Korean army was a "potential military threat to South Korea."

The report declared the North Korean forces might strike as soon as U. S. occupation forces were withdrawn.

The 27-page report on Korea disclosed that Wedemeyer urged that the United States organize, equip and train a South Korean "scout force"—similar to the former Philippine scouts—to be commanded by Americans and of "sufficient strength to cope with the threat from the north."

Wedemeyer said the United States should "initiate realistic lines of action" because "Russia and her satellites give no evidence of a conciliatory or cooperative attitude."

The report on Korea, submitted in September 1947, accurately predicted that the Soviets would withdraw their occupation forces north of the 38th parallel, "and thus induce our own withdrawal".

The general said the Russians would withdraw just as soon as they were sure the North Koreans "are strong enough and sufficiently well indoctrinated to be relied upon to carry out the Soviet objectives without the actual presence of Soviet troops."

Wedemeyer said that South Korea's economic position was "grave" and that creating a self-sustaining economy in South Korea was not feasible.

He urged that the United States provide "as early as practicable moral, advisory, and material support to China and South Korea in order to contribute to the early establishment of peace in the world in consonance with the enunciated principles of the United Nations, and concomitantly to protect United States strategic interest against militant forces which now threaten them."

On the military threat in Korea, Wedemeyer reported:

"The military situation in Korea, stemming from political and economic disputes which in turn are accentuated by the artificial barrier along the 38th north parallel, is potentially dangerous to the United States strategic interests."

"Large scale Communist inspired or abetted riots and revolutionary activities in the south are a constant threat. However, American forces supplemented by quasi-military Korean units are adequate to cope with such trouble or disorder except in the currently improbable event of an outright Soviet-controlled invasion."

The Wedemeyer report on Korea was made public by the Senate armed services and foreign relations committee after its "top secret" security classification had been removed.

'Human Blockade' On New Bridge

The parents claimed a ramp leading to the bridge has no sidewalks for the protection of school children.

Vogeler Lands In New York This Morning

Back In Homeland After Imprisonment By Reds 17 Months

NEW YORK, May 1.—(INS)—Robert A. Vogeler returned to his homeland today after 17 months' imprisonment in Hungary.

The International Telephone and Telegraph official was the last person to step off the Pan-American World Airways clipper "Eclipse," when it landed at Idlewild International airport in New York at 10:20 a. m. EDT today.

He was accompanied by his beautiful blonde wife, Lucille, their two sons, and her sister, Pia. Vogeler's face seemed rested and healthy, and his smile as he waved to the massed photographers and newsmen was steady and warm.

But it was his walk as he came down the stairs of the airport ramp that betrayed the suffering he had enduring in a Budapest jail.

Vogeler clung to his wife's arm as they came down the stairs from the plane, and when they reached the ground, he could be seen walking with a slight limp. His knees seemed weak. Once he stepped away from his wife at the request of photographers, but they reached out for each other immediately and he kissed her fondly on the cheek.

The Vogeler's were hustled into the U. S. customs office. Once out of range of photographers and newsmen, Vogeler spied his 69-year-old father, Willy Robert Vogeler, a small, tired looking man with mustache and goatee.

In the privacy behind a turn of the quonset hut which serves as temporary headquarters for the U. S. immigration service at Idlewild, father and son fell into each other's arms. The elder Vogeler wept unashamedly.

FOUND GUILTY

WASHINGTON—Rep. Walter E. Brehm, (R. Ohio) was found guilty in Federal court of illegally accepting campaign contributions from a woman clerk in his Congressional office. Brehm, 58, was convicted on five counts of violating the Federal Corrupt Practices Act. Each count carries a possible three year prison term and a $5,000 fine.

Congressman Is Found Guilty

Jury Convicts Ohio Congressman On 'Kickbacks' Charge

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(INS)—Rep. Brehm (R. Ohio), faces a possible 15-year prison sentence today for taking salary "kickbacks" from a clerk in his office.

A jury of 10 men and two women last night found the veteran congressman guilty of accepting $1,000 in political contributions from Mrs. Emma S. Craven.

Congressmen are forbidden to accept such gifts from Federal employees by the Corrupt Practices Act.

The jury, which took more than four hours to reach a verdict, acquitted the 58-year-old Brehm on a sixth count of taking $140 from another former clerk, Mrs. Clara Soliday.

Brehm could be sentenced to a maximum of 15 years in prison and fined $25,000—three years and $5,000 on each count.

His attorney announced immediately that the verdict would be appealed, and Federal Judge Burnita S. Matthews permitted Brehm to remain at liberty on $1,000 bond.

The two clerks said they turned over more than $9,000 to Brehm over a four-year period.

Gen. MacArthur Will Be First Probe Witness

Top Secret Papers May Be Presented During Investigation

By WILLIAM THEIS
WASHINGTON, May 1.—A top secret paper dealing with the joint chiefs of staff Korean military policy last January assumed vital importance today in the Senate investigation of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's sudden dismissal.

Republicans said the document, dated January 12, 1951, is key evidence supporting MacArthur's claim that his Far Eastern military policy had Pentagon backing.

To Be Examined
The secret paper is among the exhibits to be examined by the joint Senate committee probing the dismissal.

G. O. P. claims for the document were coupled with an assertion that the long-suppressed Wedemeyer report on Korea—about to be made public—warned against withdrawing U. S. troops that occupied Korea after World War II and urged that South Koreans be armed for defense.

American troops were withdrawn from Korea some time after Russia took similar action in North Korea. But subsequent events proved that the Russians had established and trained a large, well-armed military force in their area, while the South Koreans were organized and armed only as police troops.

To Make Report Public
The Senate joint committee investigating MacArthur's dismissal prepared to make public the 1947 report of Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer today. It was declassified from its top secret category along with a document reporting on the

Heavy Bombardments Fail Red Plans To Drive Into Seoul

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN

(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, May 1.—The Chinese Communists closed the Hwachon reservoir's sluice gates today, causing a drop in the water level of the Pukhan and Han rivers which may portend a drive to outflank Seoul.

The action came as casualty-ridden Chinese troops backtracked from assault positions above Seoul and shifted their main weight to the mountainous central front, east of the South Korean capital.

Far behind the lines, American jet pilots struck five Red jets in a whirling dogfight.

Reservoir Gates Closed
A Tuesday night dispatch direct from Seoul told of the closing of the gates of the Hwachon dam and reservoir, some 55 miles northeast of the capital and seven miles inside North Korea.

The dispatch said this caused the waters of the east-west Han river and its north-south Pukhan tributary to fall, possibly indicating the Reds' woad attempt to flood these streams and thus outflank Seoul on the east. It also may indicate an effort to wreck Allied pontoon bridges by later reopening the sluice gates to flood the valleys.

The Hwachon reservoir was re-occupied by the Chinese invaders last week during the enemy offensive which has cost nearly 80,000 Red casualties in eight days. Previously, the Chinese had opened the gates, flooding the Pukhan valley in an unsuccessful effort to halt the United Nations advance to the hydroelectric pool.

FIFTH ARMY FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, May 1.—(INS)—American Sabrejet pilots damaged four Russian-type MIG-15 jets and probably destroyed a fifth in a 50-plane air battle over northwest Korea today.

The 20-minute jet dogfight broke out when 25 MIG's challenged 25 of the F-86 Sabrejets above Sinuiju area which the American pilots have dubbed "Mig Alley". All the American planes returned safely to their bases.

The 600-mile-per-hour battle swirled from altitudes of 40,000 feet down to 2,000 feet before the communist jets broke contact and fled north to the haven of their Manchurian bases.

This is the day when the Queen of the May cavorts round the garlanded pole, this is the day when the nymphs have their way and dancing their ultimate goal. The day when lassies are decked out in clothes that are flimsy and ribboned and sheer, and in order to wear them and still do their dance, the day must be balmy and clear. So out with the May pole and on with the dance, and hail to the Queen of the May, it's time for the pipers and dancers and such, and it's 85 today.

One of the highways in this area that appears to have fared badly in the past winter is the route from Leesburg to Drake and Brent, in Mercer county. It will require a lot of rebuilding to put it in shape.

Slippery Rock Creek was at flood stage in some areas in the eastern part of the county Monday, following the heavy week-end rains.

Despite the high stage of the streams in the county on Monday there appeared to be numerous fishermen who thought that they could beat conditions and land some fish, the anglers being noted here and there along county streams, Monday evening.

cial roads leading down to Seoul. The enemy's supposed hope of seizing the metropolis on May Day was exploded.

Everywhere along the 110-mile North Korean front, the Communists again were playing their familiar game of hide and seek as they deployed powerful fresh units in the central sector east of Seoul.

The U.S. Eighth Army announced in its Tuesday night communique that May Day had passed with only "light enemy contact on all fronts" and with United Nations patrols "searching out" the elusive Reds.

Smash Air Challenge

Some 225 miles behind the Seoul sector, a new Red air challenge was vanquished when American Sabrejet pilots hit five out of 25 attacking Russian-type MIG-15 jets in a 50-plane battle over northwest Korea's Sinuiju area.

One of the 25 participating F-86 Sabrejets returned safely from the 20-minute dogfight which swirled at a 600-mile-per-hour speed from altitudes of 40,000 down to 2,000 feet. The Red jets, which had pounced on the Americans, broke contact and streaked back to their Manchurian refuge after a fifth of their number was shot up.

Meanwhile, the deadliest firepower yet concentrated in any Korean sector sent mauled shock units of a 600,000-man Red army reeling north above Seoul, spoiling their chance of seizing the capital on May Day.

KEFAUVER COMMITTEE MAKES CHARGES AGAINST O'DWYER

the wave of murders of a decade ago all are linked, the committee said, by "personal friendships and mutual financial interests."

Evidence Presented

In its report, made public today, the committee said the 89 New York witnesses and 500 other persons interviewed gave evidence that added up to this:

1. Despite O'Dwyer public castigating of Tammany Hall and his description of Costello as a "sinister influence therein," the former mayor has "been on terms of intimate friendship with persons who were close friends of Costello."

2. As district attorney and mayor, "Neither he nor his appointees took any effective action against the top echelons of the gambling, narcotics, waterfront, racketeering and organized crime, racketeering and gangsterism in New York City."

3. "His failure to follow up concrete evidence of organized crime, particularly in the case of 'Murder, Inc.' and the waterfront, have contributed to the growth of organized crime, racketeering and gangsterism in New York City."

4. "No matter what the motivation of his (O'Dwyer's) choice, action or inaction, it often seemed to result favorably for men suspected of being high up in the rackets."

5. The "tendency" to blame others for failing to curb crime and for the ensuing corruption "has turned up very often at every stage in O'Dwyer's career."

6. Frank Costello has "close personal and working relationships and mutual financial interests" with leading racketeers from coast to coast, "confirming the opinion that he, Joe Adonis and Meyer Lansky formed the eastern axis of a combination of racketeers working throughout the nation."

7. Costello "exercised a major influence" in the county Democratic organization, Tammany Hall, through personal friendship and "working relationships" with officers and district leaders, "even today in 10 of the 16 Manhattan districts."

The committee reviewed the New York testimony at length, sharply criticizing O'Dwyer for his failure to prosecute Albert Anastasia for the waterfront murder in which a witness, Abe "Kid Twist" Reles died mysteriously in a fall from a hotel window.

GEN. MACARTHUR TO BE FIRST WITNESS

Wake Island conference between President Truman and MacArthur. The Wake Island report was held up by the committee, however, because members questioned how it had been compiled.

Informed sources said it reads like a stenographic transcript, even to parenthetical notes of "laughter"—but there is no other indication of its accuracy.

MacArthur will be the first witness when hearings start Thursday.

Chairman Russell (D. Ga.) mentioned the January 12, 1951, document as one too "vital" to American security to be handled in public hearings.

Behind Closed Doors

Defending the joint committee's decision to start the inquiry behind closed doors, Russell said this document had to do with "steps to be taken in the Korean conflict in event of certain eventualities."

A GOP member said this was a communication from the joint chiefs of staff to MacArthur which the general believes will support his statement that "from a military standpoint" the joint chiefs shared his views on how to operate against the Reds in the Far East.

The five-star general made his statement in his April 19 speech to a joint meeting of Congress. It was inferentially challenged by the Pentagon and White House.

Republicans still hoped they could force public hearings, but Russell sharply reminded GOP members of his armed service committee that they were the ones who first suggested closed hearings for MacArthur. He said they changed their minds only after MacArthur spoke to Congress and then decided the people should have "a couple more doses of it."

REPORT GIVEN TO NATION BY PROBERS

other criminal groups throughout the country are bound together by the Mafia, which is also known as the Black Hand and the Unione Siciliano.

The committee declared in its frankly worded report: "The power of the Mafia is based on a ruthless enforcement of its edicts and its own law of vengeance, to which have been credited attributed literally hundreds of murders throughout the country."

Apparently Immune

The committee charged that "despite known arrest records and well-documented criminal reputations, the leading hoodlums in the country remain, for the most part, immune from prosecution and punishment, although underlings of their gangs may, on occasion, be prosecuted and punished."

The group said the gangsters had gotten this "immunity" through bribery of public officials, acquisition of political power by contributions to political parties and by creating economic ties with apparently respectable businessmen and lawyers.

The committee declared that gambling profits are the principal support of big-time racketeering and gangsterism," and added: "Thus, the two-dollar bettor and the five-cent numbers player are not only suckers because they are gambling against hopeless odds, but they also provide the moneys which enable underworld characters to undermine our institutions."

Continental Press Service

The probers described the Continental Press Service as the agency providing rapid transmission of racing and gambling information which "is indispensable to big time bookmaking operations."

"The Continental Press Service, at critical times and in crucial places were monopoly of bookmaking is at stake, yields to the domination and control of the Accardo-Guzik-Fischetti crime syndicate, to which it is beholden for its own monopoly in the wire service field."

"This makes it possible for the Accardo-Guzik-Fischetti crime syndicate to participate in the profits of bookmaking operations throughout the country."

The committee flatly charged that the "establishment of the wire service which provides gambling information to bookmakers is the leased wires of the Western Union Telegraph Co.," and added that the company in some instances was not "fully cooperative" with law enforcement officers moving against gambling.

No Single Panacea

The senators found 17 general recommendations for the wide-spread social, economic and political evils existing today.

The probers declared: "The committee feels, nevertheless, that while organized crime cannot be completely eliminated from our society, this is no reason for defeatism, for vigorous law enforcement can control organized crime to the point where it is no longer a menace to our institutions."

Recommendations

The crime committee's major recommendations included: 1. Establishment of a federal crime commission as an independent agency in the executive branch of the government.

2. A substantial increase in manpower and duties of the racket squads in the Justice department.

3. Continuation of the crime committee for a further check on crime in interstate commerce.

4. Establishment of a special fraud squad by the Bureau of Internal Revenue to crack down on the criminal element.

5. Tightening up of the Internal Revenue code to require gamblers, gangsters and racketeers to keep "adequate books and records of income and expenses."

6. Require gambling casinos to keep daily records of money won and lost to be filed with the Internal Revenue department.

7. Tighten up R.U.F. laws so that money lost as the result of illegal gambling cannot be deducted for income tax purposes.

8. Outlaw the transmission of illegal gambling information across state lines by any means of communication.

9. Prohibit the transmission across state lines of bets or wagers, or the transmission of money in payment of bets or wagers.

10. Substantially increase the penalties against the illegal sale, distribution and smuggling of narcotics.

11. Amend the immigration act to provide punishment for smuggling, concealing or harboring aliens not entitled to enter or reside in the United States.

12. Authorize the attorney general to revoke suspensions of deportation and to make revocation ground for cancellation of certificates of naturalization granted aliens who have succeeded in getting their immigration status recognized, but who are found later to be ineligible for such action.

14. Increase the manpower and the pay of federal law enforcement agencies generally.

Beyond his appearance before the Senate committee as its first witness when the closed-door hearings begin on Thursday, the general has no announced plans.

Curtail Festivities

However, Mrs. MacArthur is reported to have gently suggested that any further festivities be curtailed so that she and the general may have some time to themselves. Ever since the general's triumphant return to the U.S. he has had little time for other than parades and ceremonies in his honor from grateful countrymen.

But yesterday for the first time at any celebration since his return the former U.N. supreme commander had to take a back seat in favor of his wife.

All of Murfreesboro turned out to pay homage to his wife, the former Jean Marie Faircloth. She was presented with a medal making her a "six star general" so there would be no mistake over who would be the "boss" in their home.

The general kissed her as he pinned the medal to her dress. Mrs. MacArthur said:

"I guess I'm not such a good soldier because I am crying."

TWO INJURED IN MULTIPLE CRASH

Shoaff, Jr., was driving his car west when a Chevrolet car passed him on the right, at Chestnut street, and in passing, sideswiped Shoaff's car. The impact put Shoaff's car out of control and it struck and knocked a pole loose. The light on the pole was broken. Spare tires mounted on wheels on his car were knocked off and an oil can, tools and other accessories were thrown out of his car.

Charles K. Carlson came along on a motorcycle which struck one of the wheels knocked off Shoaff's car, then upset.

After the accident to Shoaff's car the Chevrolet did not stop. It was pursued by a vehicle driven by Richard McConaghy, 140 Boyles avenue, but it escaped by traveling north from East Washington street into Croton avenue.

DOLORES TOMCZYK WEDS VINCENT BRUNO

Following a honeymoon to New York City, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent E. Bruno (Dolores Tomczyk) are at home at R. D. 9, Hanna street. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Tomczyk, R. D. 9, Hanna street, and the groom, who resided at R. D. 6, Butler road, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Bruno.

The young couple exchanged wedding vows in the S. S. Philip and James church on April 17 at nine a. m. with the Rev. V. V. Stancelewski performing the double ring rite. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Slipper satin and lace fashioned the gown worn by the petite bride, with the fitted bodice featuring a nylon yoke outlined with lace and pearls. The very full skirt was enhanced with wide bands of imported lace, and the same dainty lace trimmed the cathedral train. A crown of pearls and rhinestones held her fingertip veil of silk illusion with a border of imported lace. She carried three white orchids, carnations and lily of the valley in her bridal bouquet.

Miss Pat Wheaton attended the bride as maid of honor, while the bridesmaids included Miss Judy Rozek, Miss Dolores Bruno, sister of the groom, and Miss Stella Bistya. The junior bridesmaid was Miss Rose Marie Tomczyk, sister of the bride. Each attendant wore a white strapless gown of nylon organza with a fitted bodice and lilies of the valley throughout the skirt. Pretty accents were short white jackets with cap sleeves and small pointed collars. The maid of honor wore yellow roses in her hair and carried yellow roses, while the other girls wore American Beauty roses in their hair and carried the same type of roses in their bouquets. All the girls carried a silver rosary in a silver case, a gift from the bride.

Marion Prajnsner served the groom as best man, while the ushers included John Pace, Anthony Farone and Rudolph Bruno, brother of the groom.

A wedding breakfast was served to 75 guests at the Slovak hall, with a dinner enjoyed by 200 guests at the same hall. The evening reception was held for 450 guests at the hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruno are graduates of the Shenango high school, with Mrs. Bruno employed as a clerk in the payroll office of the Johnson Bronze company. The groom is employed at the Bossert company.

SHOWING UP CRIME

Congress has appropriated an additional $100,000 to finance the Senate crime investigations for another four months. Work of the committee has accomplished more to bring the American people face to face with the real crime situation than all previous efforts along that line.

For years too many Americans have reacted toward big criminals and racketeers with a sort of awe which almost amounted to admiration. They became glamorous individuals whose every operation was given wide publicity, and crime was made to appear romantic. Robin Hood legends grew up around these big shot criminals.

The Kefauver hearings did much to change public opinion concerning these enemies of society. Broadcasting of the hearings, and especially the use of television, gave many persons a first-hand view of those under investigation. They were shown up as plug-uglies—crude, coarse and criminal.

It is not surprising that witnesses did not want to be shown up on television. They had nothing in either appearance or manners to impress the millions who saw them. Their language was atrocious in many cases.

It is all to the good that the investigation is to continue. It has done much to increase the public's knowledge of organized crime, which is vicious and deadly.

IMPROVING ON NATURE

Encouraged by the success of similar projects in Colorado and New Mexico, rain-increasing efforts will be financed through three organizations now being formed in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. In Kansas five counties are joining with two Oklahoma counties in the K and O Weather, Inc., to be financed by an assessment of $5 on each quarter-section of land.

In Oklahoma three counties have been incorporated into the Panhandle Weather Improvement Association, with assessments of two cents an acre for pasture and four cents for crop land.

The Texas group includes six counties in the northeast section of the state. All three organizations will work together as to the time and need for increasing rainfall. All have signed contracts with a Denver organization, which is credited with successfully producing rain in Colorado and New Mexico at a time of serious drouth last year.

Once considered only a dream by mankind, rain making has become the object of wide scientific study, which promises still further developments. It is based on the theory that it is possible to produce conditions artificially similar to those of nature which bring precipitation, and to do so when rain is needed.

If man is able to improve on nature in this respect he will have removed the hazard of drouth, one of his greatest handicaps to the production of food in many areas.

UNPOPULARITY MUST BE DESERVED

What happened to the government of the United States, in the Senate debate over building government offices outside Washington, D.C., to make the capital city less vulnerable to A-bomb attack, shouldn't happen to any government.

Senate debaters had a field day with the proposition that some agencies and several thousand government employees ought to be moved out for their protection. Administration spokesmen said those who voted against the proposal might be responsible for the new thousands to be brought in.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd and others read off the figures of rapidly mounting government employment, said the thousands to be moved out would speedily be replaced by other thousands in Washington and asked the administration spokesmen if they felt responsible for the new thousands to be brought in.

One Senator said it would cost nearly a trillion dollars to give all Americans minimum protection against A-bombs. He wanted to know if a bureaucrat deserved protection that the average citizen couldn't have. Then Senators, of course, live and work in Washington and are as much in danger as the bureaucrats.

It is somewhat depressing to hear the minions of the executive department getting such a going over from the legislative branch. One may reflect that such unpopularity must be deserved. But Congress cannot escape blame for the overpopulation and excesses of bureaucracy. Congress could have withheld the appropriations which permitted such a situation to develop.

Quite a few American generals have been fired, but not for wanting to win a war.

There is a possibility the meek might inherit the earth as it is today, but they deserve a better fate.

In Japan the wheels of industry might be humming. There's a big boom in the manufacture of bicycles there.

Swimming, says a physical culturist, improves the figures. Now, don't tell us all those bathing beauties can really swim!

Moscow, announces Tass, the Russian news agency, is a century or so older than formerly believed. All we have to say is that it is certainly old enough to know better.

A new Moscow opera has been roasted by the No. 1 Red sheet, Pravda. Bet the cast is scared silly that the tunes they yodeled will prove to have been their swan song.

Attlee Returns—Faces Turmoil

The Rt. Hon. Clement Richard Attlee—Oxford graduate, brilliant student of law, social service worker and now Prime Minister of Great Britain, has returned to his desk at 10 Downing Street today to face a world of turmoil and a conservative party determined to throw him out of office.

He has gone back to work after hospital treatment at a time of almost unprecedented political unrest in the British Isles.

But despite the attacks against him and his program for the nationalization of Great Britain, Attlee is pictured by London observers as returning to office in renewed political strength.

Initially, it was believed that the resignation of Labor Minister Aneurin Bevan, followed by that of President of the Board of Trade Harold Wilson and two minor officials, placed Attlee in a strategically grave position.

Situation Not Easy

His situation is not easy, by any manner or means.

The majority he controls in the House of Commons is the smallest and most precarious in many decades. Any adverse vote on a major issue would automatically compel his own resignation and a request to King George VI to authorize new general elections to sound out the feeling of the British electorate as a whole.

But latest word from the lobbies of the "mother of parliaments" along the Thames is that Attlee's bulk has grown rather than diminished as the result of the Bevan-Wilson defection.

Attlee's present labor party cabinet of 17 members—with the post of Lord Privy Seal remaining to be filled—now embraces only three men who came up from the trade union ranks.

Morrison Leading Light

The leading light in this category, of course, is Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison, whose early career almost paralleled that of his predecessor, the late Ernest Bevin who died after a long illness a little more than two weeks ago.

Most of the other cabinet members, by virtue of educational, social and business backgrounds, might well have served in any British conservative cabinet out of the "old school."

James Chuter Ede, Secretary of State for Home Affairs and second in command to Attlee as leader of the House of Commons, is a retired schoolmaster, a precise gentleman often ridiculed for his niceties by the more turbulent factors of labor's left wing.

Viscount Alexander, holding the nominal title of Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, is a man who gave his formative years to encouraging cooperative societies. He is an elder brother of Trinity House, the semi-religious organization headed by Winston Churchill and is a lay preacher of the Baptist faith.

"Intellectual Architect"

Hector McNell, Secretary of State for Scotland, is a graduate of Glasgow University, a former newspaperman and the so-called "intellectual architect" of British foreign policy.

Hugh Dalton, 64-year-old former Chancellor of the Exchequer who is now Minister of Town and Country Planning, is the son of a canon of Windsor Castle who was a confidant of Queen Victoria. He is from King's College of Eton and a graduate of Cambridge University.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, now named as President of the Board of Trade in elevation from his former post as Attorney-General, was one of the most highly-paid lawyers in the British Isles. And in accepting the new post, he took a cut in salary. As President of the Board of Trade, he gets $14,000 a year.

The Attorney General post—in which Sir Hartley distinguished himself as chief British prosecutor during the Nuremberg trials of Nazi war criminals—netted $28,000.

From the viewpoint of the United States, the shake-up in Attlee's cabinet is especially significant.

Senate debaters had a field day with the proposition that some agencies and several thousand government employees ought to be moved out for their protection. Administration spokesmen said those who voted against the proposal might be responsible for the new thousands to be brought in.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd and others read off the figures of rapidly mounting government employment, said the thousands to be moved out would speedily be replaced by other thousands in Washington and asked the administration spokesmen if they felt responsible for the new thousands to be brought in.

One Senator said it would cost nearly a trillion dollars to give all Americans minimum protection against A-bombs. He wanted to know if a bureaucrat deserved protection that the average citizen couldn't have. Then Senators, of course, live and work in Washington and are as much in danger as the bureaucrats.

It is somewhat depressing to hear the minions of the executive department getting such a going over from the legislative branch. One may reflect that such unpopularity must be deserved. But Congress cannot escape blame for the overpopulation and excesses of bureaucracy. Congress could have withheld the appropriations which permitted such a situation to develop.

Quite a few American generals have been fired, but not for wanting to win a war.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

A PROBLEM CHILD AT TABLE

Ever so many mothers write me about the baby or young child who holds food in the mouth. These mothers imply that, having succeeded in forcing food into the youngster's mouth, they were unable to make him swallow it. Some mothers say that, if they are able to make the child swallow the food, it may come back up.

One mother, a college graduate, once told me she discovered a way of kneading the throat of her daughter, three years old so she could not swallow. A month after this mother was persuaded to abandon the barbaric way and to let the child do her own eating without a word or emotional orgy from her mother, the youngster was eating heartily and amply. It was a great achievement for that mother, for she had to re-educate herself with strong self-discipline.

Poor Chewing Practice
In the infant under 10 or 15 months of age, mouth-holding of food may be encouraged by poor chewing practice. He might be helped with having a teething ring to chew; also toasted crusts of bread and the like. Some children as old as two may be retarded in chewing skill from having been kept unduly long on strained foods.

No doubt the most frequent and persistent causes of the child's holding food in the mouth is his being fed too fast, having food pushed into his fast, and can masticate and swallow it, and of having food pushed into him and he doesn't want or past the time when he wants no more food of any kind. Perhaps the average mother spoons food into the baby's mouth too large morsels and too fast. If she has done so, she inclines to err more in this direction after he is old enough to feed himself. If then he doesn't eat as much or as fast as he supposes he should, she pushes the food into him, even though he is three, four, five or six years old. In each case holding food in his mouth is about the only protective measure of self-defense he can resort to.

Average Child
Allowed to use his bare hands, or a spoon if he prefers, the average child enjoys feeding himself solid or semi-solid foods by the time he is a year old. At first a little help may be desirable, though the mother's temptation then is to push food into him against his will and too rapidly. There is nothing more important for cultivating a good appetite in your child than to let him feed himself as early as he is able to do so. Have no worry about the mess he makes. Just armor him and the floor and keep your tongue silent and your insides still. If you have a child over two or three who holds food in the mouth, quit feeding him and let him feed himself and eat as little as he likes. Place before him a very very tiny portion (four peas, half a string bean, a thimble full of baked potato) only one food at a time, the most essential one first. Let him choose between this food and nothing. If he chooses to eat, present a similarly small portion of another food, and so on. When he dawdles long or refuses the food offered, let him leave the table but have no other food (except fruit juice or milk) until the next meal. Stick by this program. If he chooses to starve unduly long and develops nausea, call your physician.

GLAMOROUS MAY
In she comes, the Mistress May, Young and beautiful and gay; Graced with exquisite song, Robins dancing at her feet, Smiling, as she trips along, World, I'll tell you, she is sweet! Name your glamor girls! I'll say, None is lovelier than May.

Every apple blossom spray, Fragrant makes the breath of May. Every bright forsythia bush Weaves for her a robe of gold. And in crowds the tulips push, Her arrival to behold. Glamor Girls! Who mentioned She has charms, but more has May.

Yes, my hair is silvered now, Deeply time has lined my brow. Still at beauty I can stare, Not withstanding all the year, And the joy of it can share. Wherever it appears, Glamor, pin-up girls! Today Here's my favorite, Mistress May. (Copyright, 1951, Edgar A. Guest)

From Me To You

By MESEALL

In spring a young man's fancy turns to love . . . for an automobile. This is the time of year to look over the various makes . . . be they in the showroom or on the used car lot. Like renting . . . the first of May is the time when many men like to change cars as well as houses. Perhaps it's the call to the open road . . . although there really isn't much open road nowadays . . . Traffic is a definite problem but traveling is still interesting.

It's also interesting to those who are thinking of cars . . . to take a guess as to how many different makes have been on the market since the year 1922. The past twenty nine years has brought many gas vehicles to the United States, a short period of time when you look back over the history of the world.

In case you have taken a guess as to the number of car makes in the 29 year period . . . you are right if you say 98. Yes that's right . . . hard to believe . . . Some you have forgotten might be the Chandler . . . the Chalmers . . . Cord . . . Elcar and Elgin . . . Remember the Essex made up until '31. The Graham was on the market until '40. How about the Moon and the Pierce-Arrow and the Reo. Remember the Stutz and the Velle . . . both on the new car list until '27 and '28. Even the electric cars were made until '25.

In 1922 a total of 1,568,505 new cars were registered in the United States . . . in 1950 the records show 6,326,438 new cars registered . . . In between years, of course, added many other millions. Records show that over 35 million are now on the roads as of last July first.

In foreign countries . . . the auto is not as available . . . over in Zanzibar like the way that name rolls off the tongue there are 122 passenger cars, 29 trucks and 29 buses . . . In France they have a million and one half cars . . . seven and a half million trucks and 20 thousand buses.

The world is on wheels . . . and spring is here.

RESUMING THE GREAT 'DEBATE' IN KOREA

"Why Bevan Resigned!"

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

I have finally figured out why Mr. Aneurin Bevan resigned as Minister of Labor when it was suggested that Englishmen pay something for their false teeth instead of getting them free under the National Health Service.

At first I didn't understand why he should get so mad about this, but Mr. Bevan's valet's speech in the House of Commons made it quite plain.

He wants free dentures for the King's subjects so that every one of them will be able at times to bite the hand that feeds him.

Meaning American hands. Now if Englishmen have to pay a few shillings for their upper and lowers it is quite possible that a few of them will have to do without the proper biting equipment, and instead of feasting off America's succulent hands will have to chew on Yorkshire pudding, or like stuff.

Not Given Fair Deal
Mr. Bevan feels that any Englishman deprived of taking solid snips out of the hand that feeds him is not being given a fair deal. He feels it isn't cricket, and he designed rather than have any of his countrymen suffer such an indignity.

His two slogans, with which he will stump the country in an effort to gain control of the Labor Party for the southpaw section of same, are "Back to Socialism" and "Independence from America."

Another thing that annoyed Mr. Bevan into quitting was the proposal that spectacles not be free, either, but that Englishmen be made to pay half the cost of them. Perhaps a crisis could have been averted on this issue had Mr.

Churchill and his party suggested that monocles be given free, but spectacles be paid for. A monocle is, after all, half a pair of spectacles.

The sight of millions of English workers wearing monocles would be a most pleasing one, and one which would add immensely to the attractiveness of the tight little isle.

Reports from London would indicate that Mr. Bevan's slogan of "Independence from America" is going to be very popular with many of England's workmen, there being quite a strong anti-American feeling among them.

Hears U. S. Taxpayers Snort
I have a feeling that no matter how popular Mr. Bevan's slogan becomes in England, it won't be quite as popular over there as over here. Even in my limited circle of friends I have heard millions of Americans taxpayers snort and fume about the vast sums of money we have spent in keeping John Bull's hat well brushed and the British lion's mane well combed.

Indeed, if Mr. Bevan is able to make England independent from America he will be brought over here and set up in a park as the finest statue in this country.

Pass Up Festival?
If England really means that it doesn't want any part of Americans, then it might be a good idea for Americans to pass up the Festival of Britain this summer, and spend their dollars in European countries where we aren't considered such a nuisance. Let the Festival of Britain be for the British, without any rude, dollar-loaded, loud and noisy Americans traipsing about the place. Let them shy at coconuts all by their lonesome, and watch their folk dances without the jarring presence of any Yanks.

I had been toying with the idea of going to England and being festive at the Festival, but no more. I don't dare to. In the first place, I am an American. Secondly, I wear horn-rimmed glasses which I paid for myself. And, thirdly, I have a fully paid for false tooth. Can't you imagine what sort of reception I'd get in London.

WASHINGTON—Republican Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire: "I cannot help but wonder what the Truman-Acheson answer would be if Russia actually entered the (Korean) conflict under terms of her mutual assistance treaty with Red China and North Korea."

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Price stabilization director Michael DiSalle: "We cannot expect to receive 1951 wages and buy at 1940 prices. We need an integrated fight against inflation."

WASHINGTON—Harold E. Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania: "I intend to follow up my proposal actively this week and hope to have the support of the majority of the Republican senators for a meeting of President Truman and General MacArthur during this week."

Removal By Default

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 1.—Removal of President Truman from his office has to be considered a political improbability, but separation of the President from his normal duties of executive leadership is taking place almost every day.

Latest example of how presidential leadership can be thwarted—and how the American system of government can create its own stalemate—was on exhibition recently when the Senate defeated the Administration so-called dispersal program by a cross-party vote of 45-39. Viewed from the press gallery and considered only as a political demonstration, this Senate action was one to suggest unhappy thoughts about the wartime breakdown of Democratic government.

The dispersal program, although it had its faults, came to the floor with the endorsement of the Defense department, the Atomic Energy Commission and the National Security Resources Board. The program called for the removal of 45,000 key government officials from the atomic target area of Washington. It was finally sent back to committee, not primarily because of its shortcomings as a piece of legislation, but because of the disfavor, distrust—even contempt—which the 82nd Congress now holds for the Administration of the 31st President.

Feelings Made Clear

These feelings, although not spelled out in such unadorned language, were made altogether clear from the arguments advanced by Senator Byrd, who was the bill's chief executioner. It is significant that Byrd paid little attention to the specifics of the bill itself and laid his main emphasis on the general proposition that the Administration is untruthful, untrustworthy and predatory. His debate, which consumed barely 10 minutes of speaking time, ran somewhat as follows:

There is nothing new about the Fair Deal's attempt to expand its territory. The threat of atomic destruction of Washington is a convenient excuse to plant Federal townships in Maryland, Virginia and elsewhere, and then to fill up the vacated office space with more Federal workers. The cost of saving these 45,000 officials—who would run the government during an atomic emergency—might run to $500 million, and Byrd thought the price too high. At one point he suggested that the cremation of the Cabinet and other Administration executives might be no loss to the nation.

Anyone is entitled to applaud Byrd's estimate of the President's official family and bureaucracy, but that is hardly the point. The point is that this type of argument was able to swing a serious Senate debate. The realities of the atomic bomb and the plain necessity of taking precautions were outweighed at a time of national danger by ridicule of the Administration.

Goes Much Deeper

There is no use writing off this instance as an example of political vengeance or folly. It goes much deeper than that. The prestige of the presidency ought to be such that it can withstand ridicule. The wisdom of top executive agencies—in this case the highly important ones of Defense Department, Atomic Energy Commission and NSRB—ought to produce programs which are impervious to foolish and frivolous arguments. The majority party ought to have enough right on its side to ride roughshod over obstructionism. The managers of a program as vital as the dispersal program ought to come to the floor with a bill that is politics-proof. Under a two-party system there is no reason to expect that the opposition will not oppose. The job of the Administration party is to overcome this opposition by the force of logic or the strategy of workable compromise.

Thus to say that the President is being daily separated from his executive leadership is also to say that he is allowing himself to be separated. The governmental stalemate exists because he does not command the respect and the faith which are necessary for leadership. The breakdown is threatened because one pillar of the tripod structure of government is too weak to support its weight.

And the irony of the situation is all too manifest. If Mr. Truman were removable, another President would take his place. But while he remains in office, and unless he suddenly improves, the office itself is becoming virtually empty.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Everybody looks for something to suit his own taste when he travels.

Some people look for scenery. Others want fun. Still others visit museums and art galleries.

I always feel the sorriest for the traveling salesman who sits around the hotel lobbies in the evening wondering how to pass the time until they are tired enough to go to bed.

I suppose it is for them that those funny ads in the "What to see" booklets are published—ads, for instance like the one I just noticed in a publication called "Your Host" and distributed to the hotel guests in Cincinnati, where we happen to be at this writing.

The ad reads: "Dining, Dancing, Sporting Events, Tours. 'E-S-C-O-R-T-S.' 'Our Female Escorts Selected from 'Cincinnati's Loveliest Models.'"

Then it gives the name of the escort bureau and two telephone numbers—one where they can be reached from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., and another for those who get lonely some between 7:30 and 9:30 p.m.

The it glorifies (and illustrates) a "Girl Show Burlesk" with "continuously star-studded entertainment."

"New Yorkers," it says, "Chicagoans! Clevelanders! Or whether you're from Pittsburgh, Peoria or Podunk—You'll enjoy the happy intimate atmosphere of Cincinnati's outstanding note spot. 'Welcome Visitors and Conventioneers.'"

Yes, everybody looks for something different when he travels. Take my wife, for instance. She went to high school here in Cincinnati. So she is out somewhere reminiscing. She is trying to find old friends and old familiar spots.

I am afraid she'll be disappointed in both. Memories had better be left alone.

But there are other things you find when you are traveling. They may be little things—but they are significant.

They may be there—right at home—but you don't notice them. They are too familiar.

For instance, in one of Cincinnati's newspapers they don't head their "Death Notices" that cold way, nor do they call them "Obituaries." They call them "Journeys' End."

I had never seen that heading before. Perhaps other papers use it, too. Perhaps I just didn't notice it.

But it is nice—it's soft, it's tender. And it is so fitting. "Journey's End"—isn't that all it is?

And here is a big sign hung between the elevators of the hotel. "We respectfully request that QUIET prevail after 12 midnight," it reads, "—so that guests may not be disturbed in their rest and sleep."

Very nice and polite, isn't it? But then it goes on:

"ANYONE NOT COMPLYING with the above request will be required to check out IMMEDIATELY WITHOUT EXCEPTION!" That is indeed the iron fist in the gloved hand.

That real warm day, Butch took off his shoes to go barefoot. He stubbed his toe and it got black and blue. He told Mom that he had an accinet.

Accidents are our worst trouble nowadays. Autos and planes and trains and guns and stairs and ice picks and poison and sunshine and ladders and ice and carelessness all help the gruesome procession.

Pretty soon it will be summer and Susie will stay in the sun too long. Blisters and red skin do not feel too good.

Butch gets his tan gradually so that he is not afraid of sun burn on his face, but wait till he gets into his bavin suit some day. Ouch!

Loyalty Oath Legislation Causes Split

By JOHN PAGET
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, May 1.—The Senate Finance committee's initial scrutiny of the House-approved income tax bill today shared the general assembly spotlight with a split between educators and veterans over proposed loyalty oath legislation.

The educators emphasized that they would not object to enactment of a legislative requirement compelling teachers to take a loyalty oath similar to the constitutional oath of office.

The committee, prodded by majority leader John M. Walker and minority leader John H. Dent, is expected to decide whether to bow to pressure for public hearings on the controversial tax bill and open the door to invited representatives of business, labor and banking wishing to testify.

The tax bill, aimed at collecting 119 of 163 million dollars in new revenue under a one half of one per cent levy during the biennium opening June 1, has been the target of demands for public hearings ever since it began moving through the assembly a month ago but administration aides in the heavily Republican House were successful in withstanding pressure. The balance of the additional revenue demanded by Rine would come from boosting the four per cent corporate net income tax to five per cent.

The political makeup of the Senate, controlled by Republicans 30-20, may be a big reason why hearings will be held because Republicans—eager to smooth over any objections—cannot lose more than four of their number on a roll call if the bill is to pass.

Denies Truman Has Appeasement Plan

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—(INS)—W. Averell Harriman denied tonight "in the most emphatic terms, that President Truman will engage in appeasement or reward aggression."

The President's special assistant made his reply in response to what he called "misrepresentations and false statements" leveled at the administration's foreign policy.

In an address before a regional conference of the American Association for the United Nations, Inc., Harriman said Mr. Truman rejects any idea of appeasement and so do all his advisers.

For every ton of steel poured by Russia and her satellites in the first half of 1950, it is estimated that nearly three tons were poured in the United States.

Profiteering And Greed Are Charged In Defense Program

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(INS)—The Senate Preparedness subcommittee investigates today what one member denounced as shocking profiteering and greed in the defense program.

The probe of the subcommittee, headed by Sen. Johnson (D) Tex., is being conducted at unscheduled sessions behind closed doors.

But Sen. Morse (R) Ore., a committee member, said he is appalled at disclosures that he is on the verge of breaking a secrecy ban on information so far obtained.

Morse demanded that something be done about "the unconscionable greed and selfishness" which he said "characterizes some economic groups in the defense program."

Others said that the cases to which Morse referred are still under investigation and pertinent facts "have not yet been nailed down."

Evidence yet to be obtained, it was said, may still throw a somewhat different light on the profiteering cases.

Seeks Nomination For Commissioner

M. M. (CY) INGHAM

M. M. (Cy) Ingham announces for Republican nomination for County Commissioner.

"I have been a life-long resident of Lawrence County and a property owner since 1918. Since 1926, I have owned and operated an orchard in Neshannock Township.

"I have served one term as Sheriff of Lawrence County, 1938-1941 and after my successor in office joined the Armed Services during World War II. I was called back to fill out his unexpired term.

"I feel that my past experiences in public office and an active interest in public affairs has qualified me to serve as County Commissioner of the Lawrence County with full appreciation of its problems and needs.

"Due to the fact that there are but three members on the Board of County Commissioners it is important that these be representative of all the citizens. I believe that I am qualified to serve the best interests of the people as a whole.

"At the last Primary election for this office, I was third in a close race.

"There may be some who do not know me personally who would be concerned with my political affiliations. I do not represent any clique or faction and have always been a Republican.

"I am a candidate for the Republican nomination at Primaries to be held July 24th, 1951. I respectfully ask the support of the Republican voters."

Sincerely yours,
M. M. (Cy) Ingham.

PRESENTS "OTHER SIDE"

April 30
To the Editor of The News:
In the interest of fair play and common decency I would like to bring before the attention of the people of New Castle a sadly neglected "side of the story". I am referring to the trailer camp located on McCleary avenue.

The trailer camp is located on a three-acre tract of land, has sewage, water and electric conveniences. The trailers are located on lots 40 by 100 feet and have plenty of space to meet even the most exacting requirements.

There are six trailers at the present time. They are very modern, in good condition and make beautiful homes.

The people who live there are hard working citizens (this is attested by the fact that five out of the six were in the service of their country during the last war). And five out of the six families were born and raised in New Castle. They work in New Castle and pay city wage taxes. They would wel-

HADACOL

HERE'S WHAT THEY ARE SAYING FROM COAST TO COAST

HADACOL Relieves The Cause of Stomach Distress, Aches and Pains, Weak, Run-Down Conditions,

Poor Appetite and Nervousness When Due to a Deficiency of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron

E. A. Drumright, 313 Main St., Nashville, Tenn., says this about today's great HADACOL: "I had lost lots of weight and was tired all the time. After the first small bottle I started feeling better right away. I have now taken four more large bottles and wouldn't be without HADACOL. HADACOL has done so much for me. It's wonderful and all of my friends saw how bad I was looking and now tell me how much better I look. I can't say enough for HADACOL."

Mrs. Ardena Longaker, Rt. 5, Meadowbrook Rd., North Kansas City, Mo.: "I am a minister's wife and am 39 years old. Two years ago I had an operation and just had a hard time getting back my energy. I was run-down, lost weight, was listless, and had no appetite at all. I'm on my fifth bottle now and am amazed at the results. I want to eat all the time now. Most of all, I'm glad to say, I've gained several pounds. HADACOL is so economical I believe almost anyone can afford it, and I do recommend it to my friends."

Frank W. Woche, 531 Apache, Houston, Texas: "I was so run-down and my son-in-law suggested I take HADACOL. I had lost lots of weight and was tired all the time. After the first small bottle I started feeling better right away. I have now taken four more large bottles and wouldn't be without HADACOL. HADACOL has done so much for me. It's wonderful and all of my friends saw how bad I was looking and now tell me how much better I look. I can't say enough for HADACOL."

Mrs. LaRue Unstoe, Soumenia, Illinois: "My son Gary is four years old, and will be five in July. His grandfather, Mr. J. W. Simmons, who lives with us, was taking HADACOL and it helped him. We had been having so much trouble getting Gary to eat. It seemed as if it would take the entire family to coax him to eat. After we started giving him HADACOL his appetite picked up right away. He will eat three hearty meals a day, gets up in the morning all set for a big breakfast. HADACOL has certainly helped Gary's appetite."

Mrs. J. E. Roberts, 1516 Lincoln, Little Rock, Ark.: "I am a mother with five children and with all my housework I was so run-down and just couldn't seem to eat at all. I heard about HADACOL and decided to try it, to see if it would help me. I could tell from the first bottle that it was helping me. I started eating right away—my appetite picked up a lot. After that I took three more bottles of HADACOL, and really believe that HADACOL is a good product, and it has certainly helped me."

Mrs. Letha Fitzpatrick, 401 E. Elm St., Scottsville, Ky.: "I couldn't sleep. I didn't have any appetite and wasn't able to do anything. Then I heard about HADACOL and what it had done for others. I decided to give it a trial. I have taken several bottles and I can truthfully say it has really helped me. I feel so much better. I have a lot more strength. I can eat now and I'm gaining weight. I do my work, work in my flowers, also in the garden. Now I'm putting up my fruit and vegetables. I can't thank HADACOL enough for what it's done for me."

Mrs. Thomas Fanning, Francisco, Ala.: "I just want to say a few words about HADACOL. I can't praise it enough for what it has done for my little seven-year-old girl. She was weak and pale, and did not eat very much. So, I decided to try HADACOL. Now, she eats more and has a better color and has gained weight. My friends and neighbors all are talking about her looking so much better. I can't say enough for it. I recommend it to my friends and neighbors or anybody. I will know from now on what to get when any of my family needs help."

Mrs. Anne Franks, 434 West Seven St., Newport, Ky.: "As a constant user of HADACOL—and am on my fourth bottle—I would not hesitate to acclaim it the best. I was so run-down I could hardly do my work. And that is important as I do a man's job in a shoe factory. I felt that I did not have enough energy to lift my hands. I felt so let-down everything annoyed me. But since I've taken my first bottle, I've been helped so much that now I'm up and ready and anxious to get my work done and am not tired, but am able to do my housework. I cannot praise HADACOL and its makers enough."

Mrs. Margaret Gordon, 113 Farrest St., Clover, S. Car.: "I didn't have the energy, and I couldn't sleep at night. I had gas pains all the time. So many friends told me how it had helped them, so I decided to try HADACOL. I have taken three bottles, and am on my fourth bottle. I can't express my gladness for all that it has done for me. Now, I work sleep well at night, and I work. I praise HADACOL very much. I will not do without HADACOL anymore. It has done wonders for me. I can eat anything I wish now, and it doesn't hurt me any more. I am 26 years of age."

Mrs. Onetha White, 1709 Bush Ave., Alexandria, La.: "I am 25 years old and have lived in Alexandria all my life. I am employed by a canning company. A year ago I was nervous and run-down. I lost my appetite and couldn't sleep. A friend told me about HADACOL and I decided to try it. I have been taking one bottle a week for a year and I can report wonderful results. I am gaining weight, my nerves are OK... I have a good appetite and I can sleep nights again. One bottle a week did it and I recommend HADACOL to all who have my ailments."

Mrs. Joe Bukowski, 921 Sanborn St., Ottumwa, Iowa: "Before I started taking HADACOL it was nearly impossible for me to do my housework. I was weak, nervous, didn't sleep well, and lacked an appetite. But thanks to regular use of HADACOL, I now do all my housework, sleep well, and have a good appetite. I don't have that tired feeling. I'm really 100 per cent better since taking HADACOL."

Mrs. Walter Shields, Horsbyville, Pa.: "I have a little boy who had stomach distress every time he went riding in a car. Nothing did him any good. I heard about HADACOL and have given him two bottles. He doesn't suffer from his stomach any more. HADACOL is sold on a strict money-back guarantee. You'll feel great with the first few bottles you take or your money back."

Mrs. Anna M. Dehlendorf, 631 E. Pope St., St. Louis 15, Mo.: "I have been taking HADACOL for six months, and feel fine again. I am 60 years old, and do housework, laundry by the day for different parties, and I am do baby sitting in the evening. Before I started taking HADACOL, I was underweight—I only weighed 97 pounds. Now my weight is 135 pounds. I eat good, sleep good, and feel good."

Marcus Dee Starkey, 1866 Farrow St., Kansas City, Kansas: "Before taking HADACOL, I suffered such stomach distress after each meal I could hardly work. My wife bought me a bottle of HADACOL, and I will bless the day she did this for me. I took this wonderful discovery and after one week I was actually surprised at the results. I have now taken four of the large bottles, and that isn't all, I will continue taking it."

Mrs. Lela Nelson, 1702 E. 63rd Street, Huntington Park, Los Angeles, California: "I was run-down, couldn't sleep at night, had aches and pains and with seven children to care for I couldn't get my work done. After three bottles of HADACOL I felt so much better I could do more work than ever before. I've been taking HADACOL ever since and feel so good. I now give it to my children and it has helped them, too."

Gymanfa Ganu Sunday, May 6

Song Festival To Attract Many

Following a tradition of many years, a Gymanfa Ganu will be held Sunday, May 6, in First Congregational church.

Two sessions of the song festival will be held, the first at 2:30 in the afternoon and the second at 7:30. Between sessions a Welsh tea will be held in the basement of the church.

Ordinarily a man is selected to act as the director of music for the Gymanfa here. This year a talented young woman of Emporia, Kas., Ann Davies, will be the conductor.

Miss Davies is a member of the faculty of the Kansas State Teachers' college in Emporia, Kas., as an instructor of music. Her education in music is broad and includes the following schools: Trinity College of Music, London, England; Royal Academy of Music, London; American Conservatory of Music, Chicago, and Kansas State Teachers college, Emporia. In addition she studied organ with E. Stanley Sedar of the Sherwood School of Music in Chicago, piano and theory with Louise Robyn and Helen Curtis of Chicago, and with Henry Geehl and William Lovelock of London. Also with Eric Grant and Margaret Donnington of London.

She has conducted Gymanfas in Kansas City, Seattle, Columbus, O., Chicago and many other cities. The soloist of the day will be Leslie Marietta of Wampum, and the accompanist will be Mrs. John M. Hopkins.

The afternoon conductor will be Judge David G. Jenkins of Youngstown, O., and in the evening Dr. Robert F. Galbreath of New Castle.

Middle-Aged Men Just As Red-Blooded

CLEVELAND, May 1.—(INS)—A University of Minnesota professor said today that inactive middle-aged men are just as "red blooded" as more athletic men in the same group.

Dr. Austin Henschel, in a report delivered at the 35th annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology in Cleveland, said exercise, physical culture and an active life seems to make little difference in the physiological functions of older men.

Around Hollywood

By JAMES PADGITT
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, May 1 — The vanity that prompts film stars to hide behind dark glasses and veils and under big hats and black umbrellas was deplored today by an actress who learned her lesson the hard way.

Gene Tierney, who is too beautiful to hide anything, confessed she once was carried away by the importance of it all and tried to avoid public recognition in New York City.

"I thought I was being terribly smart and important," she said, "by affecting a so-called disguise when I went shopping."

This was at a time when Gene had become more than an ordinarily recognizable celebrity by virtue of such performances as in "Leave Her To Heaven" and "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir."

Hounded-By Fans

In New York, she was frequently assailed by enthusiastic fans who sought the inevitable autographs or the just as inevitable brief chat with a movie star.

"It was true," Miss Tierney recalled, "that I was having a difficult time buying some furniture for an apartment I was fixing up, but I know now that this was no excuse for the absurd way I went about disguising myself."

Gene bought one of those big, face-absorbing floppy hats, originally sported for many years by Greta Garbo. She bought a pair of over-size sun-glasses, and getting into an ill-fitting dress, she added what she thought to be the final and inspirational touch by making sure her slip was dropping a good three or four inches below the hem of her skirt.

"I was positive no movie actress would be caught with her slip showing, and that this was the touch to make me perfectly safe from the stares and interference of fans who might recognize me," she said.

On Shopping Tour

Gene traipsed blithely in the first store on her shopping tour. "I hadn't been in the place 10 minutes nor completed my first purchase," she declared, "when a well-dressed matron approached me, tapped me on the shoulder and whispered into my ear. 'Miss Tierney, your slip's showing!'"

That was the end of the Tierney disguises. She scampered home, dressed like she usually does, went out and completed her shopping with no more than enough fan interest to bolster her spirits.

"And since then," she said, "I've discovered that fans are no more than normally interested in stars, and that there's no sense in making yourself look ridiculous and more vain than usual by trying to fool them."

Revision Of Constitution Seen As Need

Judge Braham Is Heard By Rotary On Subject Monday

Need for a revision of the Pennsylvania Constitution was expressed by Judge W. Walter Braham, in a talk before the New Castle Rotary club, at its noon luncheon meeting in The Castleton Monday.

Two new members were inducted at the meeting, Vernon C. Corle, superintendent of the New Castle Water Company, and Herbert F. Christman, former official of the A. S. and T. P. Co. here, now retired, being accepted.

Judge Braham stated that the matter of revising the state constitution is being given serious consideration at this time, because of the fact that it has become unwieldy and outmoded.

Revised Often
In comparing the state constitution to the Federal constitution, he stated that the Federal constitution embraces about 16 pages, while that of the state contains 52 pages. The U. S. constitution has been in force for 162 years, that of the state only 77 years. The United States Constitution has been amended 22 times, while the state constitution has been amended 54 times, all since 1904.

He then pointed out a number of ways in which the state constitution does not fill the bill. He stated that the constitution provides that the state assembly shall convene on the first Tuesday in January, every biennium, until when a new governor is sworn in. He does not take his office until the third Tuesday of January. By the time he has drawn up his budget and recommendation to the state assembly, it is generally March and the legislature has done little but sit around.

In the executive department, the U. S. Constitution puts the president in charge, and he names the secretary of the treasury, and various other offices. In the state of Pennsylvania, however, we elect a treasurer, auditor general, secretary of internal affairs, etc. If the constitution of the state is amended, he stated it might not be a bad idea to put the governor in charge and make him responsible for filling these offices.

Missouri Judge Plan
In regard to the judiciary, he recommended the plan of appointing judges, under an idea instituted in Missouri, selections being made from a panel of three men recommended by citizens of the county, or in the state by a judicial committee.

They may have to re-examine the taxing authority and make some changes here, Judge Braham also stated.

Many of the amendments which have come about in the state have been as the result of pressure brought by the citizenry of the state.

He called attention to the fact that the state constitution provides for reapportionment of senatorial districts following the taking of the census, which has not been done. Other provisions under the constitution have been stepped such as the matter of appointing judges, when a vacancy occurs in state appointments. Another matter which has been sidestepped has been the contribution by the state, for requests to charitable purposes, corporations, but this has been sidestepped to allow grants to the blind, mothers, and aged persons without adequate support.

Another provision limits the state debt, and municipal borrowing powers, which have been sidestepped by creating state and municipal authorities.

New Jersey, he stated, revised its constitution by vote of the people, but he felt there might be some difficulty in Pennsylvania, through the fear of the people that it might pave the way for a graduated income tax. However, he felt that a constitutional convention should be called in Pennsylvania to revise our unwieldy constitution.

Lack Of Sidewalks Postpones Opening Of New Bridge

RANKIN, Pa., May 1.—(INS)—The "no sidewalks, no traffic" stand of nearby Whitaker residents postponed opening of the $8,000, 000 George Rankin, Jr., memorial bridge across the Monongahela river yesterday and led to victory for the demonstrators.

Allegheny county commissioners said the bridge won't be opened for ten days and during that time sidewalks will be constructed along the Whitaker approaches to the bridge.

The Whitaker group brought chairs and benches on the bridge yesterday and formed a human barrier which prevented the flow of traffic.

Residents had complained there "was no place" for their children to walk and one of them told news-

"We've been eating dust and living in mud for two years. We want sidewalks before the bridge is opened."

Garden Notes

Wax beans have twice as much vitamin C as the average green snapbeans. Especially high in C are Improved Golden Wax, Shure-Crop Wax and Stringless Kidney Wax.

If you like snowball shrubs, be sure to get the Chinese Snowball. The flowers are much larger than the common snowball, and the plant seems to be free of plant lice which curl the leaves and twigs of the other varieties.

Late blooming perennial clumps, such as phlox, bergamot, physostegia and boltonia, that have grown too thick may be cut across with a sharp spade to make two, four or six clumps.

If you are burdened with a soil that is very poor and very dry, make the best of it by growing plants that prefer such conditions. Try Yuccas, Cinquefoil, Globe Thistle, Junipers, Heather, native roses, sea holly and Portulaca.

When applying weed killers 2,4-D or 2,4-D5 to the lawn, keep them carefully away from borders or the edge of the garden. Even the slightest spray or drift may cause injury to plants and shrubs nearby.

If you were bothered with insect pests in the garden last summer, remember that these perennials are insect-proof: sweet williams, primroses, alyssums, achilleas, anemones, columbines, shasta daisies, coreopsis, gailardias, day lilies, poppies, sedums, veronicas and violas.

Avoid removing leaves and other vegetable matter from among shrubs. Get in the habit of increasing the accumulation there because they serve as mulches and conservers of water and food in the soil.

Dig up and destroy any tulips that appear to be diseased and willing to check the spread of the disease to other plants.

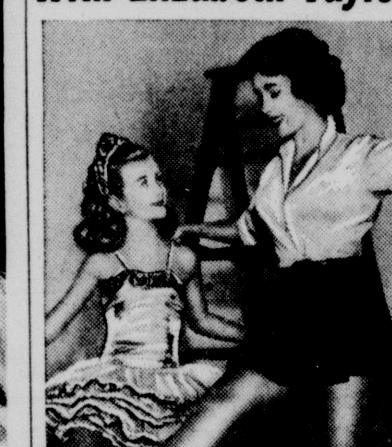

Many think they should only plant bush beans in a small vegetable garden. This is a mistake. Pole beans, although taking up a little more space will yield for a much longer period and give a larger crop.

Daffodil foliage, like that of other spring bulbs, should not be removed until it has turned yellow.

Allow a pair of leaves to remain on each tulip plant when the blossom is cut. Use a sharp knife when gathering the blooms.

Since fresh, green lawn clippings soon become very hot, do not spread them more than an inch or two deep at each application when mulching soft green plants of low growth.

Extend Closing Date Of County Cancer Crusade

May 1, 1951 marks the scheduled original closing date for the 1951 Cancer Crusade but the drive will continue in Lawrence county, it was announced by Edwin O. Feass and Mrs. Blake H. Waldo, American Cancer Society Crusade co-chairmen.

The chairmen said a number of reasons have delayed the Crusade's progress here and because the need for funds is so urgent, the campaign will be extended. The American Red Cross Drive was carried over several weeks and for this reason the Cancer Drive was delayed in starting.

"I know that if I could pool all the people in this community," Mr. Feass said, "the result would be overwhelmingly in favor of continuing the 1951 Crusade until at least our assigned quota is met. A survey not so long ago showed that eight out of ten who are asked to give to the Cancer Crusade, are happy to give. We need a little more time to ask all who want an opportunity to support our work."

Costly To Community

Cancer is costing this community thousands of dollars every year; the bill for cancer throughout the United States has been estimated at two billion dollars and that many lives could be saved from cancer and millions of dollars of waste by education. The Crusade chairmen explaining the importance of this community's raising its share of the national goal of $14,565,000.

"The twenty-five cents of every dollar raised that is spent on research nationally will come back to us someday many fold in the form of new ways to treat and cure cancer," the chairmen said.

"The fate of half of all who get cancer depends on improved methods of diagnosis, treatment and outright cure methods all of which must come from the laboratory," Mr. Feass declared.

Woman Faces Bigamy Charges

COVINGTON, Ky., May 1.—(INS)—Tall, attractive blonde, Mrs. Florence Redelsheimer, wife of a wealthy Nashville, Tenn. oil man, was to be returned from Miami, Fla., to Covington, to face bigamy charges.

Mrs. Redelsheimer was arrested late Saturday on the request of James T. Benn, Orlando, Fla., and reportedly admitted the charge. Her husband said he would stand by her. He is a former national vice commander of the Amvets.

Mrs. Redelsheimer, 40-year-old World War II army nurse, said she ran away and married Benn in Covington in 1949, only to leave him for treatment for a nervous disorder and later for a divorce. She said she returned to Redelsheimer after treatment in a Washington veterans' hospital.

The woman said Benn's charges are his second attempt to get custody of her year-and-a-half-old daughter. He contends he is the father although the baby is registered as Redelsheimer's.

Today's Fashion Flash

NEW YORK, May 1.—(INS)—Rainwear designers are getting so modish that a slicker is slicker than a spring coat this season.

They're offering rain duds in every fabric from metallic-striped nylon sheer to heavy quilted velveteen.

Virtually every fabric sheds water these days, and designers have made the most of this scientific processing. They drape satin into raincoats that look like caudresses, fashion linen into casual duster coats, perk up waterproof corduroys and velveteens till they look like formal-dress wraps.

The pyramid coat is still the most practical and pretty style bet in raincoats for this spring and summer. But next fall is expected to see a big comeback for reversible rainwear in heavy interlined fabrics.

Bold plaid and checks are especially recommended as brighteners for rainy autumn days.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Children Can Understand

Mrs. Turner had just overheard a conversation between her two young boys that made her pretty happy. She'd been having a rather hard day. A lot of things had gone wrong. And she was feeling guilty about having snapped at the boys several times when they got in her way.

Timmy, the seven-year-old, was complaining to his 12-year-old brother. And he, in a very big-brotherly way, said, "Oh, never mind, Timmy. Mother's having a tough time today. Don't worry. She'll get over it."

Yes, if they're given half a chance, our youngsters can even understand us. And, of course, they learn such understanding largely because, at other times, we've shown the same sort. For Mrs. Turner had not infrequently said something like, "Look, Bill, Timmy is sort of hard to get along with today. I don't think he feels too well." Or, "You know, son, if Daddy has had a hard time at the office, he may be more cranky than is usual."

Sometimes, indeed, it's almost amazing how much understanding children can show. And there are few things that will stand them in better stead in the give-and-take of everyday living than this sort of understanding of what makes people act as they do. It's well worth the time we may spend in helping them put themselves in the other person's shoes.

American Military Program Going Well

PARIS, May 1.—(INS)—U. S. Mobilization Director Charles Wilson said after a conference with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower Monday that the American Military program is "going well", with goods rolling out at a rate of $2,000,000,000 a month.

Wilson said that in March $4,500,000,000 were allocated for arms equipment. He said the inflation picture is "not so good but getting better".

"I know," he said, "that our allies are alert to this danger as we are and will work with us against this enemy."

Panel Discusses Y-Teens At Home During Y-Teen Day

Y-Teen clubs of the New Castle area joined clubs throughout the United States in a special study of "What Do We Want in Our House?" on Y-Teen day, held recently in the local YWCA.

The evening program was opened with the singing of "Our Song", followed by a devotional period during which Jeanne Cooper read "Home", by Edgar A. Guest.

Miss Doris Meister presented special music for the evening by singing "Bless This House."

"What Do We Want in Our Homes" was given emphasis through a forum of Y-Teen members and adults of the community. Moderator for the panel was Samuel J. Rashid, assisted by adults Mrs. C. M. Shumate, Dr. Jane Morris, Miss Patricia Preston, and Y-Teen members, Sue Lockley, Nancy Ross, Ann Rishor, Barbara Webber and Lucretia Biordi.

Responsibility

Through the discussion of panel participants it was found that although adults do not wish to burden young people in the family with responsibilities of necessary work in the home, teen-agers do need some responsibility in sharing household work that they may learn the principles of having a home of their own. Responsibility is a must for young people and should be given to them at an early age to plan good study and health habits, leisure-time activities, and aspects of personal appearance.

Teen-agers should be trustworthy and should respect the trust of parents and adults in privileges and responsibilities given them. Adults should have faith in their children that they may choose their friends and have experiences of meeting and being with people of different backgrounds. As a family group teen-agers and adults should work together to establish dating standards which will be well integrated with the mores of the community and with the customs of the group and will meet high standards and approval of all.

In conclusion, a teen-ager must know that in the home can be found security, love and affection at all times and that nothing can destroy that family unity if parents and teen-agers are building their home together.

Civil Emergency Order Is Issued In New Zealand

WELLINGTON, N. Z., May 1.—(INS)—Premier S. G. Holland informed the people of New Zealand by radio today that "a very determined effort has been made to overthrow the government by force."

The premier said that the cabinet therefore had decided to establish a civil emergency organization.

Holland said that the situation was related to the 10-week-old dockers strike which has tied up shipping in New Zealand. It has been charged that the strike is being directed by communists.

The premier declared that the strike had taken a "dramatic, grave turn" and then he declared that an effort had been made to oust the government.

Holland said a small group possessing great power had employed every means at its command to spread trouble and paralyze the country's trade in an attempt to force the government to surrender.

The premier said that the civil emergency organization will "stand with the government in carrying out any task the emergency may require in protecting life and property."

Boro Considers Disposal Plant

South New Castle
May Install Plant

Residents of South New Castle are considering installing a sewage disposal plant in the boro and thus give the boro a modern sanitary system.

Septic tanks are used now by the 200 or more homes in the boro but the forward looking folks up there believe a disposal plant would be an investment in sanitation.

In many ways South New Castle Boro is an unusual place. A visitor driving through notices the well kept condition of the homes. The answer is that almost everybody owns his own home and the percentage of mortgages against properties is low.

Every street corner is marked with a sign post which is some-thing many cities cannot say. The boro has electricity, gas and city water and the disposal plant would be one of the few things needed to bring the boro right up to date.

When a thing is needed in South New Castle Boro it is a matter for every citizen to consider, not just the elected officials. There is a burgess and a boro council and they do their job well, but if a matter is proposed that concerns all the people, then all the people get interested.

Under the law the boro council is entitled to pay each member $10 per month. South New Castle councilmen pay themselves $5 per month which may be a part of their expenses.

You don't hear much in the public prints about South New Castle Boro. Seldom are there violations of the criminal code, divorce is rare, and it is keeping well within the bounds of truth to say the boro is one of the most respectable, law abiding spots in all Lawrence county.

There are about 1000 people in the boro and you can be sure that before anything is done in the way of installing a sewage disposal plant, every citizen of age will be permitted to have his say. When and if anything is done it will be a co-operative effort.

Boro representatives were in the court house Monday getting information on procedure.

SETTLE EXTRADITION CASE
Before Judge John G. Lamoree Monday morning the extradition case against Duane Rowe, now of New Castle, formerly of Wayne county, W. Va., was heard.

The state of West Virginia asked to extradite him back to West Virginia to stand trial on charges of neglect to maintain a minor child. After taking testimony and hearing arguments Judge Lamoree gave counsel for the litigants time to discuss the matter and it was agreed that a settlement would be made here. Rowe will be tried in this county for the alleged offense.

Good Taste

COMBINATION LIVING-DINING ROOM

"We have moved into a country home and I have found that the living room is too small for comfort. We are considering removing the partition, eliminating the dining room and making a large living room. We have a large dining table, buffet and six upholstered chairs. Our living room furniture consists of a sofa, piano, two chairs and two bookcases. How may we arrange these in one room?"

Answer: You must not have living room and dining room furniture in one room, unless you don't care how your room looks.

Either leave the rooms as they are or arrange your one large room as a living room only. This can be done very well by eliminating your dining room furniture, retaining the living room pieces you already have and adding a folding table to be set up during meals and at other times folded by the wall. For example, a gateleg or reproduction of a Duncan Phyfe.

Instead of a buffet, have a secretary desk in the top of which store your dishes and in the drawers your linens. You may use as many of your dining chairs as your room will accommodate, provided of course they are appropriate for a living room. Or better still, get Windsor or Robert Morris chairs, both of which are appropriate for living room furniture, as well as comfortable for using at a dining table.

If you feel that this added expense would be too much effort for you, leave your rooms as they are. 'Tis better to have two small attractive rooms than one unattractive one.

Question: Please give me the correct usage of "esquire."

Answer: In British usage, it is written after a gentleman's name. In America, it follows, usually, names of lawyers and other professional men, although it may be used after any man's name. But when it is used, the "Mr." is omitted.

NOT SO DANGEROUS
COLUMBUS, Ind.—A public service crew was called out during a heavy snowstorm when city firemen reported a broken electric line in the business district. Linemen discovered it wasn't a power line at all—just a snow coated kite string dangling from a utility pole. The firemen's faces were reported as red as the flares they had set up around the "danger area."

FARM PRICES AND COSTS UP IN MARCH
Prices received by Pennsylvania farmers for the products they sell advanced about one per cent during the month ending March 15. Farm costs also rose so that the purchasing power of the farmer's dollar was $1.01, the same as in the previous month. This compares with a dollar having a purchasing power of 90 cents a year ago.

Wheat and corn were up four cents per bushel. Potatoes remained at $1 per bushel and hay gained 40 cents a ton. Hogs were down 60 cents, and veal calves were down $2. However, beef cattle and lambs were up 50 cent per hundred pounds. Milk cows reached a record high of $252 per head. Milk at wholesale dropped 10 cents per pound liveweight and eggs, 4 cents per dozen.

CULTIVATION OF VEGETABLE GARDEN
As soon as rows in the garden can be seen, begin cultivating. Repeat the cultivation every week or ten days. It kills the weeds while they are small and keeps the soil in good condition. Weeds that start between the plants in the row should be pulled out or hoed out before they become large. Cultivating the soil too deeply (more than an inch) may cause some damage through injury to roots of the growing crop.

The best time to hoe is after a good rain, allowing time for the soil to become fit to work, but before weeds have gained a start.

GIVE PROTEIN FOODS SPECIAL CARE
Protein foods are perishable and they need good care after you bring them from the store. Meat, poultry, and fish need special care. Remove them from the store wrappings and wrap them loosely in waxed paper. Until ready to use them, keep in the refrigerator.

Store carefully dairy products, like milk, cheese, and eggs. Keep milk cool, clean, and covered. Put eggs in a covered container in the refrigerator. Cover these to keep it from drying out and store in a box or other container in the refrigerator. If mold appears on the surface of the cheese, just cut it off before using the cheese.

Nuts are among the perishable protein foods. The oil in nuts, like the oil in peanut butter, can become rancid and develop an undesirable flavor. It is wise to buy only the amount of nuts you can use in a reasonable length of time. Put nuts in a covered container and keep in the kitchen cupboard where the air is dry. Always keep peanut butter covered. Dried beans, peas, and lentils may be kept in the kitchen cupboard or some other place where the air is dry. Keep these dried foods, as well as cereals, covered.

SEMI-SWEET
When you are melting semi-sweet chocolate put it in a small round-bottomed bowl and set over hot, not boiling, water. If you set the chocolate over boiling water the steam may affect the cocoa butter in the chocolate and make it hard to get the melted chocolate smooth.

Ceiling Prices On New Passenger Autos Extended

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(INS)—Present ceiling prices for new passenger automobiles were extended indefinitely today by the Office of Price Stabilization.

Ceiling price regulation number one which covers new autos was due to expire today but OPS announced it would be extended "for an indefinite period."

OPS also announced a formula for adjustment of car makers' prices for cars sold without spare tires and tubes. The National Production Authority recently prohibited fifth tires on new cars.

OPS said manufacturers with the standard charge for the spare tire should deduct that amount from the list price to dealers.

Manufacturers without a standard charge will deduct the cost of the tire to them plus the percentage markup and subtract that from the net price to dealers.

A price order for retail car dealers to cover elimination of the spare was promised in the near future.

News Carrier Is Struck By Auto

Tommy Kirker, aged 13 years, of R. D. 2, newspaper carrier, suffered injuries to the head and neck when struck by an auto driven by Samuel J. Farman, of 15 E. Boston avenue, Youngstown, on Route 422, north of the city, at 5:55 p.m., Monday, according to a report made to State Police. He was riding a bicycle when struck. His condition was reported as satisfactory today.

According to the State Police inquiry, Farman was driving west, five miles from New Castle and the boy was riding his bicycle 20 or 25 feet in front of Farman's car, also traveling west. The bicyclist turned his wheel from the north berm, crossed the highway to the south berm, where the car struck him. It is believed, according to State Police that, the boy was headed for a private lane to deliver a newspaper to a customer.

Cleveland Indians Battle Red Sox Tonight; Cards Meet Braves

Giants Snap Losing Streak

Defeat Dodgers Under Arcs, 8-5

By HOWARD SIGMAND
(U. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, May 1.—Inter-sec-tional warfare in the Major League goes on its first 1951 fling today and the already battle-scarred New York Giants look upon the invasion from the west as a possible breather.

Western clubs in the National League begin their first tour of the east while the western American League teams start their initial swing through the west.

The big story with the Giants, baseball's biggest early-season busts, is that they finally won a ball game after eleven straight losses.

Giants Finally Win

Leo Durocher's somewhat frustrated crew opened with a rush against the Brooklyn Dodgers last night and managed to stagger through to an 8 to 5 victory, their third in 15 starts.

The Giants and Dodgers had the Major League stage all to themselves and to a man the big question was whether the brooks could make it an even dozen for the Durocher men.

The Giants, who lost their 11 straight games to their eastern colleagues, now take on the west, with the Chicago Cubs leading the parade tonight.

Braves Vs. Cards

In Boston, the first place Braves, who are in a percentage-wise tie with St. Louis, meet up with these very same Redbirds. Brooklyn plays host to the Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati visits Philadelphia in other National League games.

The American League, which figured in the news with the big three-cornered trade which sent lefty Lou Brissie of the A's to the Cleveland Indians, has a full east-west card today.

Indians Vs. Red Sox

The big game will be played under the stars in Cleveland where the first place Tribe meets up with the Boston Red Sox. It will be a sort of homecoming for ex-Indian manager Lou Boudreau, who now sports the uniform of the enemy Sox.

The Washington Senators, who share the junior circuit lead with Cleveland, are in St. Louis for a night game. New York is at Chicago and the Philadelphia Athletics, trying to shake a 10-game losing streak, open in Detroit with the Tigers.

Sherm Fog is the only member of the Penn State staff who serves as head coach in two sports. His sports are skiing and tennis.

New Castle Indians Meet Jamestown Falcons Here Wednesday

Exhibition Arc Light Game For Flaherty Field

Rossman Will Get Pitching Nod

New Castle baseball fans will get their first glimpse of the 1951 New Castle Indians of the Middle-Atlantic League Wednesday night at Flaherty Memorial Field as Al "Lefty" Milnar sends his charges into an exhibition battle with Tony Lupien's Jamestown N.Y., team of the Class D Pony League.

Game time tomorrow night is 8 o'clock.

It will afford the Indians a good workout for the opening of the Middle-Atlantic League season at

Stockholders, Directors Will Gather Tonight

Al Scarazzo, president of the New Castle Citizens Baseball Inc., has called a special meeting of the stockholders and directors for the Hotel New Penn at 8 o'clock tonight instead of Wednesday, the regular meeting night, owing to the exhibition game Wednesday with Jamestown.

Butler Thursday night. Manager Milnar has given the pitching assignment to Ben Rossman, former New Castle Senators star hurler, (13-10).

The Jamestown club will have the advantage of a month's training at Southern Pines, N.C., and will have five exhibition games under their belts. The Indians have trained at home and have had two weeks to get in shape.

With the signing of Steve Magula, the veteran first baseman, yesterday, the entire Indian squad is now under contract. Magula was with Niagara Falls last year and in July became a free agent and signed with New Castle, playing three innings of a game at Vandergrift, then pulling a muscle in his leg and was out of action the rest of the season. He is a long-ball hitter and should give the Indians added punch at the plate.

No Lineup Announced

The Indians held an afternoon workout today at the ball park and will have a light drill tomorrow morning, no doubt, to keep in shape.

Manager Milnar has not announced his starting lineup for Wednesday but will probably go with Chief Butler at third, Joe Frisina at short, Bill Green at second, Magula at first, Walt Kowalski in left, Don Lavigne in center and Gene Bilo or Rudy Johnson in right. Horne will be behind the plate.

Business Manager Jack Lewis has announced the prices for the Jamestown game at 54 cents general admission for everybody except children under 12, accompanied by their parents or an adult for free.

In the event of a nice night no doubt several hundred fans will avail themselves of the opportunity to give the Indians the "once over."

Louis-Agramonte Battle Wednesday

Meet The Indians

WILLIAM HORNE, BELOIT, WISCONSIN.—Voted the most popular catcher and member of the 1950 Middle-Atlantic League All-Star team. Horne a New Castle Senators receiver last year, is now with the New Castle Indians.

The big Wisconsin boy—22, 6 foot 1 and 195 pounds, hit .309 last year to lead the New Castle team at bat. He had nine doubles and two triples, and had 47 RBIs, with 97 credited hits.

Horne broke into organized baseball in 1948 with Emporia, in the Virginia State league and batted .279. In 1949 he was with Charlotte, in the Tri-State Class B league, a Washington farm team, and batted .251.

Horne's hobby when not playing baseball is hunting, in the big northern woods. He is married and in his off-season works in the personnel department of a large Beloit industrial firm.

Horne fielded .983 as a catcher last year and his 70 assists led the league attesting to his strong throwing arm. His aggressiveness has caught the eye of Manager Al Milnar.

Duquesne Nine Defeats Titans In Home Opener

Westminster College's baseball Titans bowed to Duquesne University 3-1 yesterday in their opening home game of the season.

The loss was the Blue and White's second in three contests and gave the Dukes a 3-2 record in games played to date.

He allowed only four hits and held the Dukes hitless after the third inning, striking out nine men. He walked nine men.

The Dukes capitalized on two walks and two timely singles to score their first run in the first inning, and came back in the third to put across two more tallies on a walk, a double by Don Ivot and a single by John Nigro.

Westminster's only score came in the eighth when Al Sternberg walked, was sacrificed to second by John Abraham, and came in to score on Don Meyers single.

Score by innings:

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

WHEN an athlete's legs go back on him, his athletic career is in the tag end, hence Walker Cooper, now 35, of the Braves, realizing his legs may not hold up forever, isn't backward in saying he would like to become a manager. . . . Bill McPeak, star end for the Pittsburgh Steelers, will play for old-timers of Pitt against Pitt in the stadium, May 12. He was voted Pitt's most valuable player in 1948 and 1949. . . . 'Twas a fine banquet the ex-high floor stars of Wampum held Saturday night, and although many of the group present are now located in other cities and towns, all expressed undying loyalty to Wampum. Among those present were Larry Denley, Joe Gilard, Bill Kirk, Phil Hickenroder, et al. They'll hold another get-together next April. . . . It there were as many trout fishermen along other creeks as fished in the Slippery Rock Sunday, trout were kept on the move. Heavy rain sent the trouters home during the afternoon. Bessemer Defeats Mt. Jackson, 3-0

Bessemer high school pitchers would no doubt like to get a petition to bar Walter Kenst of Mt. Jackson high school from playing in the county loop.

For the second time in four days, Kenst spoiled a no-hit effort of a Bessemer pitcher as he singled to right in the second inning Monday off of Phil DeArment as Phil stopped Mt. Jackson 3-0 on that one hit.

Friday afternoon Kenst spoiled a no-hitter for cementer pitcher Michael Safara when he singled in the third.

The win was the Cementers' second in three starts and second in a row over the Mounties. DeArment fanned 13. Grist hurled for Mt. Jackson, struck out 12.

Tom Shuluga and DeArment had doubles for the only extra base hits of the game.

Kentucky Derby Race Saturday

May Be Big Field
In $100,000 Event

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor
LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1.—The two-minute Derby, comes up for its 77th renewal next Saturday, May 5, and the traffic to Derbytown is heavier than ever—both in runners and bettors.

One of the biggest fields in years, and maybe an all-time record of 23 or more starters, may line up at the gates at 4:31 p. m. Central Daylight time.

A favorite for the race? There is no outstanding choice although Repetore has done everything asked of him in his Derby tune-ups, all staged in the east.

The colts will run a mile and a quarter for a purse of $100,000 added, plus a $10,000 gold cup to the winner. They'll be out to crack Whirlaway's record outed in 1941 when Mr. Longtail rocketed home by seven lengths in the time of 2:01 2/5.

The record number of starters, 22 in 1928, could be broken in the 77th running this year.

Legion Team Has First Practice

American Legion post team held its first try-out practice Monday evening at George Washington field.

Twenty-seven candidates greeted manager Dale "Lefty" Gibson.

Eight holdovers remain from last year's team. They are pitchers Ray Latsko, Jerry Ginocchi and Chester Boak, infielders Bill Boak, Fred Clarke, John Sansone and Fuzzy Fazzone and outfielder Jack O'Leary.

Several promising candidates reported, and several others that have not yet reported are expected to attend the next session. Manager Gibson let it be known that every position on the team is wide open and that the competition will be keen.

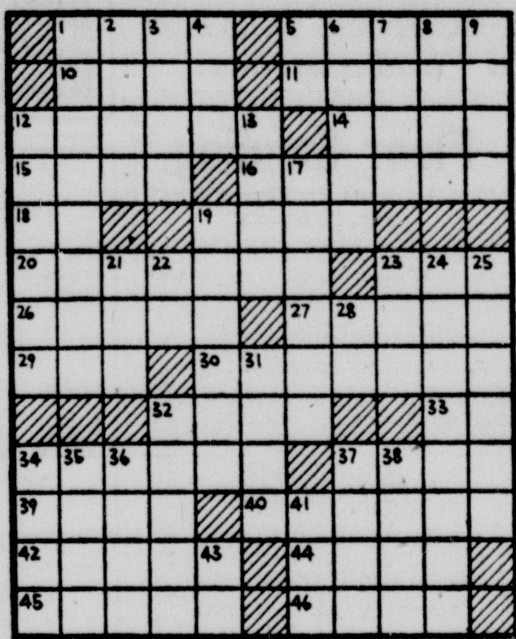

Next practice will be held at George Washington field on Wednesday, May 2. All boys, 18 years of age or under, interested in a try-out, are urged to attend the practice.

Dick Cripps, of Drexel Hill, Pa. defensive tackle on the football team, is a shot putter on the Penn State track team.
